

Troup House School

Troup House School is situated in extensive grounds, close to the small village of Gamrie in Aberdeenshire. We provide specialist education and care to young people aged 8 to 18 years with an autistic spectrum disorder (ASD), social, emotional and mental health (SEMH) needs and behaviours that challenge.

Troup House School is located in a beautiful rural setting and situated within 42 acres of woodland. This enables us to provide unique learning experiences in a safe, positive and nurturing environment.

A holistic approach

We employ an inclusive approach to addressing and supporting our children's needs, creating opportunities to thrive and develop. We support our young people through plans and interventions based on the GIRFEC wellbeing indicators.

Our care, education and support service teams engage in collaborative practice designed to ensure the best outcomes and experiences for all within our school community.

Safe and supportive community living

Troup House School is registered as a school care accommodation service with HMIE, The Care Inspectorate and regulated in accordance with the National Care Standards for School Care Accommodation Services.

Every opportunity for learning is capitalised upon across 24 hours in order to emphasise the development of the four capacities of the Curriculum for Excellence. These are successful learners, confident individuals, responsible citizens and effective contributors.

Young people have access to a range of educational and social experiences to support the development of the four capacities and are presented with increased opportunities for achievement and attainment.

All young people have individualised care and education plans supported by a key team including Care and Education Practitioners in a nurturing therapeutic, physical environment. Young people are actively involved in challenge and achievement programmes within the school and the local community including access to a range of activities and work experience opportunities.

Praised by The Care Inspectorate

Troup House School has been graded as 'Very Good' for its 'Learners' experiences', following its latest inspection by The Care Inspectorate.

Within the report, inspectors said: "Staff act as positive role models. They encourage young people to maintain cooperative friendships with their peers and to try their best." and "Young people are supported well into the world of young adulthood."

The report continued, "All young people are making good progress from prior levels of attainment since their arrival at the school."
